

GRANT AID CASE STUDY

A grant from Surrey Heath Arts Council in 2007 helped local student Danielle Sheridan attend a National Youth Theatre Summer School at the Laban Centre, London.

Besides the in-depth acting tuition provided, Danielle learnt something of stage combat, movement and vocal training. Stress was laid on “how to act, not acting how to act”. Danielle described this opportunity as “the most amazing time ... the best thing I have ever done – thank you so much!” The experience has confirmed her resolution to pursue an acting career and she intends to audition for drama schools across the country next year. Surrey Heath Arts Council wishes Danielle well in her further studies and is pleased to have been able to grant aid this part of her course.
