I'm sure you will have noticed Roary - Surrey Heath's latest recruit - featured on the front page of the magazine. As explained, he will be helping us raise awareness about the new waste collection scheme. I've only known him for a short while myself, and he seems pretty tame, but I can imagine he'd get a bit fierce if I didn't put my waste paper in the office recycling bin.

Something else you probably can't fail to notice is the new public artwork in Park Street entitled 'The Right Way'. It features three stainless steel figures on top of a 20ft obelisk pointing along the three different directions.

Designed and built by artist Rick Kirby it makes an interesting and attractive addition to the new development. If you haven't seen it yet why not pop along and take a look?

Finally, after the success of last year's inaugural event - the Surrey Heath Show returns on Saturday 2nd May for more spring fun at Frimley Lodge Park. I expect it will be a day packed with excellent shows, stalls, fairground rides and most of all - fun. So don't miss it!

Have a great spring!
